The Origins and Significance of the Call to Worship in Methodist Worship

Historical Roots

The call to worship has deep historical roots within Christian liturgy, dating back to early church practices where Scripture passages and psalms would be recited collectively. The Methodist tradition, established in the 18th century by John Wesley, inherited and adapted these ancient practices into its distinctive worship style. Wesley emphasized the importance of personal and communal engagement with Scripture, which naturally extended into the call to worship.

In Methodist liturgy, the call to worship functions as an invitation for the congregation to focus their hearts and minds on God. It is typically scripted, often based on Scripture, hymnody, or doctrinal themes, and designed to prepare worshippers for the sacred act of communal praise.

The Role in Worship

The call to worship responsive is more than a mere opening; it is an intentional act of setting spiritual expectations. It:

- Invites the congregation into a sacred space and moment.
- Reinforces key theological themes such as God's sovereignty, mercy, and love.
- Cultivates a sense of unity and participation.
- Prepares hearts for the subsequent elements of the service, such as prayer, Scripture reading, and preaching.

In Methodist services, the responsiveness underscores the participatory ethos central to Wesleyan worship, emphasizing that worship is a shared act rather than a passive observation.

Structure and Components of a Methodist Call to Worship Responsive

Typical Structure

A Methodist call to worship responsive generally follows a predictable pattern, often comprising three key components:

- Invocation or Opening Scripture: A Scripture verse or passage that calls the congregation to worship. This could be from Psalms, the Gospels, or other biblical texts emphasizing God's majesty, mercy, or faithfulness.

- Responsive Reading or Psalm: A prepared responsive reading where the leader and congregation alternate lines or sections. These are often drawn from Psalms or other Scripture that lend themselves to congregational participation.

- Affirmation or Prayer of Invocation: A short prayer or affirmation, reaffirming God's presence and inviting the Holy Spirit to dwell among the congregation.

Example Format

- Leader: "Come, let us worship the Lord our God."
- Congregation: "We come to worship the Lord our God."
- Leader: "The Lord is our refuge and strength."
- Congregation: "Therefore, we will not fear."

This back-and-forth establishes a rhythm and invites active engagement.

- Isaiah 6:3: "Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hosts..."

These passages are chosen to evoke reverence and remind worshippers of God's holiness, mercy, and sovereignty.

Worship as a Response to God's Revelation

The responsive call to worship is also rooted in the idea that worship begins with God's initiative?His revelation of Himself through Scripture, creation, and the Holy Spirit. The congregation responds in praise and adoration, acknowledging God's presence and majesty.
